To Whom It May Concern:

I have used Fieldman Law as an outsourced general counsel for several years, using his legal advice on every issue, from reviewing agreements, to transactional negotiations, to strategic business decisions. He has also managed outside counsel in litigation.

Jon takes the time to understand our business intimately, to the point that we rely on him for both small matters and large structural issues. I respect his views and take his recommendations to heart.

Jon can decipher an issue, whether it's strictly legal or business, and present options in a clear and understandable way for his client. As a result, I am more able to take an analytical stance as opposed to an emotional stance.

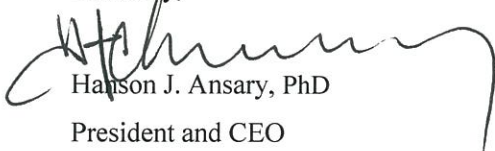

We had reached a point of litigation in one such instance. Jon was able to work with the litigators we hired, as well as opposing counsel, to negotiate a settlement. Had Jon not been involved in those meetings, we would have spent hours and hours more in fees and perhaps gone to court unnecessarily and expensively.

Jon was able to dissect issues and point out the pros and cons. In an unemotional and detached way, he made recommendations that both parties welcomed.

Jon is the most business-minded attorney I have come across. There are a lot of good attorneys, but most look at issues from a legal perspective only. Jon looks at issues from both a business and a legal perspective. The business perspective adds considerable value to his advice.

I cannot recommend Fieldman Law highly enough.

Sincerely,

Hanson J. Ansary, PhD
